Comment on Ministerial Appointment

Commenting on the appointment of Gillian Martin MSP as Minister for Further Education, Higher Education and Science, Shona Struthers, Chief Executive of Colleges Scotland, said:

“Congratulations to Gillian Martin on her ministerial appointment. We look forward to working closely with the new Minister for Further Education, Higher Education and Science and collectively helping the college sector to continue delivering for learners, employers, and communities.

“The Minister’s previous role as a college lecturer means she already has a good understanding of what colleges do, which is great news for the sector.

“Congratulations also to the former Further Education, Higher Education and Science Minister, Shirley-Anne Somerville, who has been promoted to the Cabinet. Shirley-Anne was a passionate advocate for the college sector and we wish her well in her new role.”
