Colleges Scotland's Comment on the Stutton Trust's Access in Scotland Report

Shona Struthers, Chief Executive, Colleges Scotland said:

“We welcome the report’s acknowledgement of the crucial role that colleges play in delivering higher education and progression routes into universities for students who wish to do so, regardless of their background. It underlines that these routes are more likely to see Scottish students from disadvantaged backgrounds gaining access to university.

“There is still progress to be made and we look forward to working with the Fair Access Commissioner when they are appointed in the summer.”
